

Christopher Coluccio Summery

Quality is all about satisfying stated and implied needs –now, or in the future.

The future of Quality control and data integrity is the blockchain, and associated smart contracts. Blockchain has the potential to transform business models and the way quality is managed.

Christopher will discuss how the blockchain (the technology behind Bitcoin), smart contracts, and how they will revolutionize quality control in the future.